

KWI Asset Management Company Limited

Information as of 31 March 2025

KWI India Equity FIF Capital Accumulation Class (KWI INDIA-A)

Type of Fund / Category of Fund

- Foreign Equity Fund / Feeder Fund
- AIMC Category : India Equity

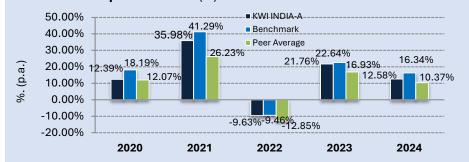

Investment Policy & Fund Strategy

- The Fund shall invest, on average, no less than 80% of NAV in any accounting period in the Mutual Fund Units of Manulife Global Fund India Equity Fund (Class I2) (the Master Fund).
- The Fund may occasionally invest in derivatives contracts for the purpose of foreign exchange hedging or efficient portfolio management at the discretion of the fund manager.
- The Master Fund will invest mainly of equity related investments and equities of companies covering the different sectors of the Indian economy and which are listed on a stock exchange either in India or on any stock exchange.
- The management company of the master fund is Manulife Investment Management (Hong Kong) Limited.

Investment Strategy

- The Fund aims to track investment return of the Master Fund.
- The Master Fund adopts an active investment management strategy aiming to outperform the reference benchmark.

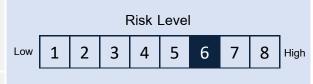

Calendar Year performance (%) Annualized

Fund performance (%) Annualized*

	YTD	3 Mths	6 Mths	1 Y
KWI INDIA-A	-4.83	-4.83	-6.64	-1.39
Benchmark	-5.20	-5.20	-5.74	-1.80
Peer Group Average	-7.11	-7.11	-12.46	-2.42
Fund's Standard Deviation	1.07	1.07	0.96	15.39
Benchmark's Standard Deviation	1.05	1.05	1.01	17.71
	3 Ys	5 Ys	10 Ys	Since Inception
KWI INDIA-A	3 Ys 7.56	5 Ys 18.02	10 Ys N/A	Since Inception 7.32
KWI INDIA-A Benchmark
	7.56	18.02	N/A	7.32
Benchmark	7.56 9.32	18.02 20.85	N/A N/A	7.32

^{*} The periods of 1 year and above are annualized.

6: High Risk

Investing mainly in equity on average no less than 80% of NAV in fund's accounting year

Fund Feature

Fund Launch Date	9 April 2015
Share Class Launch Date	9 April 2015
Dividend Policy	None
Fund Duration	Indefinite

Fund Manager

Name-Surname	Starting Date
Chanaikan Swadirurk	18 November 2024

Benchmark

100% performance of MGF – India Equity Fund (Class I2) (Master Fund) in USD term converted into Thai Baht-denominated on the date calculating returns of the Fund.

Disclaimer

- Investment in mutual funds is not a money deposit.
- Past performance is no guarantee of future results.
- The value of investment units may go down as well as up due to exchange rate fluctuation and investors may not get back their original investment.

Participation in Anti-Corruption: CAC Signatory Company Morningstar rating: As of March 31, 2025, the fund received a 4-star Overall Morningstar Rating

Investors can study Liquidity Risk Management Tools from the Fund's prospectus.

Prospectus

www.kwiam.com

Subscription	Redemption
Subscription Date : Every dealing day	Redemption Date : Every dealing day
Opening Hours : During business hours until 3.30 p.m.	Opening Hours : During business hours until 3.30 p.m.
Minimum Initial Subscription : 1,000 Baht	Minimum Redemption : Not specified
Minimum Subsequent Subscription : Not specified	Minimum Account Balance : Not specified
	Settlement Period: 5 business days from the date which NAV is calculated. (T+5) (NAV Announcement T+1)

Statistical Information
Maximum drawdown	-19.84%
Recovering Period	N/A
FX Hedging	-
Portfolio Turnover Ratio	-
Sharpe ratio	0.18
Alpha	-1.50
Beta	0.93
Tracking Error	-

Fees Chargeable to the Fund (% p.a. of NAV)

Fees	Maximum Rate	Actual
Management	1.8725	1.8725
Total Expenses	6.4200	2.1004

Such fees are inclusive of value added tax, specific business tax, and any other related taxes.

Remark: The Fund has the rebate fee from the Master Fund at the rate of 0.40% p.a. of the investment value in the Master Fund. Such rebate fee is subject to change in accordance with the change in management fee of the Master Fund (if any).

Fees Chargeable to the Unitholders (% of trading value)

Fees	Maximum Rate	Actual
Front-end Fee
 For mutual fund units 	1.50	1.50
For Unit-Linked product	None	None
Back-end Fee
 For mutual fund units 	None	None
For Unit-Linked product	None	None
Switching-in Fee	None	None
Switching-out Fee	None	None
Unit Transfer Fee	Not exceeding	Not exceeding
	200 Baht/transaction	200 Baht/transaction

Such fees are inclusive of value added tax, specific business tax, and any other related taxes. Remark:

Asset Allocation

Asset Name	%NAV
Master Fund Units	98.00
Bank deposits	2.20
Other Assets &	-0.20
Liabilities

Top 5 Holdings

Asset Name	%NAV
Master Fund Units	98.00

Top 5 Holdings of Master Fund

Securities Name	%NAV
ICICI Bank Limited	6.79
HDFC Bank Limited	6.66
Reliance Industries Limited	6.27
Bharti Airtel Limited	4.98
Infosys Limited	4.93

Country Allocation of Master Fund

Country	%NAV
India	98.00

Master Fund information as of 28 Feb 25

¹Switching of investment units incurs front-end fee (the Destination Fund) and back-end fee (the Source Fund) in accordance with the rates specified by the Management Company.

 $^{^2}$ The Management Company reserves the right to change the fees or expenses specified in the Fund Scheme not higher than 5% of the current rates within one accounting year.

The Master Fund information (The master fund that the fund invests more than 20% of its NAV)

Master Fund name: Manulife Global Fund – India Equity Fund (Class I2)

ISIN code: LU1079480668

Bloomberg Ticker: MINEQID:LX

Remark: The Fund Performance, Statistical Information, Asset Allocation and Top 5 Holdings are as of March 28, 2025 due to March 31, 2025 is a non-dealing day of Master Fund.

Definitions

Maximum Drawdown: The maximum percentage of loss of a fund over the past 5 years (or since inception if the fund he established for less than 5 years). It is measured from the highest value of the fund's NAV per un lowest value during the period that the NAV per unit is depreciating. The Maximum drawdown is assess the risk of possible loss that could occur from investing in a fund. Recovering Period: A duration of time that let the investors know how long it will take for a fund to recover from a pea to the original level of investment. FX Hedging: Percentage of foreign currency denominated assets in the investment portfolio that are hedged foreign exchange risk. Portfolio Turnover Ratio: The trading frequency of assets in the investment portfolio during a certain period of time. It is calcutaking either the total amount of new securities purchased or the number of securities sold (whicheve over a period of one year, divided by the average net asset value (NAV) of the fund over the correspondin A fund with high portfolio turnover indicates that the securities in the portfolio are frequently traded by manager and hence high securities dealing cost. Therefore, investors must take into consideral performance of the fund in order to determine the cost worthiness of such securities trading transactics. Sharpe Ratio: A ratio between the excess return of a fund and the risk of investment. The Sharpe ratio reveals the investment return, minus the risk-free rate of return, divided by the standard deviation of returns for the Sharpe ratio reflects the extra return that should be received by the fund to compensate the amountaken in investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark which is a result of the capabilitie fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely of the f
FX Hedging: Percentage of foreign currency denominated assets in the investment portfolio that are hedged foreign exchange risk. Portfolio Turnover Ratio: The trading frequency of assets in the investment portfolio during a certain period of time. It is calculated taking either the total amount of new securities purchased or the number of securities sold (whicheve over a period of one year, divided by the average net asset value (NAV) of the fund over the corresponding A fund with high portfolio turnover indicates that the securities in the portfolio are frequently traded by manager and hence high securities dealing cost. Therefore, investors must take into consideral performance of the fund in order to determine the cost worthiness of such securities trading transaction. Sharpe Ratio: A ratio between the excess return of a fund and the risk of investment. The Sharpe ratio reveals the investment return, minus the risk-free rate of return, divided by the standard deviation of returns for it investment return, minus the risk-free rate of return, divided by the standard deviation of returns for it investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indicate it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabilitie fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely return of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereas the contract of the capability of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the secu	it to the Fortfolio Turnover Ratio: The trading frequency of assets in the investment portfolio during a certain period of time. It is calcutaking either the total amount of new securities purchased or the number of securities sold (whicheve over a period of one year, divided by the average net asset value (NAV) of the fund over the corresponding A fund with high portfolio turnover indicates that the securities in the portfolio are frequently traded by manager and hence high securities dealing cost. Therefore, investors must take into consider a performance of the fund in order to determine the cost worthiness of such securities trading transaction. Sharpe Ratio: A ratio between the excess return of a fund and the risk of investment. The Sharpe ratio reveals the investment return, minus the risk-free rate of return, divided by the standard deviation of returns for the Sharpe ratio reflects the extra return that should be received by the fund to compensate the amount taken in investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indication it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabiliting fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereasters.	of loss taking either the total amount of new securities purchased or the number of securities sold (whichever over a period of one year, divided by the average net asset value (NAV) of the fund over the corresponding A fund with high portfolio turnover indicates that the securities in the portfolio are frequently traded by manager and hence high securities dealing cost. Therefore, investors must take into considerate performance of the fund in order to determine the cost worthiness of such securities trading transaction. Sharpe Ratio: A ratio between the excess return of a fund and the risk of investment. The Sharpe ratio reveals the investment return, minus the risk-free rate of return, divided by the standard deviation of returns for the Sharpe ratio reflects the extra return that should be received by the fund to compensate the amount taken in investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indication it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabilitic fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely return of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereast in the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereast in the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereast indicates that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereast indicates the constitution of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of t	against over a period of one year, divided by the average net asset value (NAV) of the fund over the correspondin A fund with high portfolio turnover indicates that the securities in the portfolio are frequently traded by manager and hence high securities dealing cost. Therefore, investors must take into considera performance of the fund in order to determine the cost worthiness of such securities trading transactio Sharpe Ratio: A ratio between the excess return of a fund and the risk of investment. The Sharpe ratio reveals the investment return, minus the risk-free rate of return, divided by the standard deviation of returns for the Sharpe ratio reflects the extra return that should be received by the fund to compensate the amout taken in investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indication it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabilitie fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely result of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereas	lated by
A fund with high portfolio turnover indicates that the securities in the portfolio are frequently traded by manager and hence high securities dealing cost. Therefore, investors must take into consideral performance of the fund in order to determine the cost worthiness of such securities trading transaction. Sharpe Ratio: A ratio between the excess return of a fund and the risk of investment. The Sharpe ratio reveals the investment return, minus the risk-free rate of return, divided by the standard deviation of returns for a trade of the Sharpe ratio reflects the extra return that should be received by the fund to compensate the amount taken in investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indicate it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabilities fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely refund manager of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereasters.	r is less) manager and hence high securities dealing cost. Therefore, investors must take into consideral performance of the fund in order to determine the cost worthiness of such securities trading transaction. Sharpe Ratio: A ratio between the excess return of a fund and the risk of investment. The Sharpe ratio reveals the investment return, minus the risk-free rate of return, divided by the standard deviation of returns for a The Sharpe ratio reflects the extra return that should be received by the fund to compensate the amount taken in investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indicate it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabiliting fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely refund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely refund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereast in the provides higher excess return of the securities in the broader market whereast in the provides higher excess return under the same risk level.	gperiod.
Sharpe Ratio: A ratio between the excess return of a fund and the risk of investment. The Sharpe ratio reveals the investment return, minus the risk-free rate of return, divided by the standard deviation of returns for the Sharpe ratio reflects the extra return that should be received by the fund to compensate the amout taken in investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indicated it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabilities fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely return of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereasters.	the fund
Sharpe Ratio: A ratio between the excess return of a fund and the risk of investment. The Sharpe ratio reveals the investment return, minus the risk-free rate of return, divided by the standard deviation of returns for the Sharpe ratio reflects the extra return that should be received by the fund to compensate the amount taken in investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indication it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabilities fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely refund the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereast in the investment of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereast in the investment in the investment of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereast in the investment in the investment in the investment in the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereast in the investment	tion the investment return, minus the risk-free rate of return, divided by the standard deviation of returns for the Sharpe ratio reflects the extra return that should be received by the fund to compensate the amountaken in investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indicated it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabilities fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely result of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereasters.	าร.
The Sharpe ratio reflects the extra return that should be received by the fund to compensate the amountaken in investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indication it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabiliting fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely refund manager of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereasters.	average taken in investment. The fund with a higher Sharpe ratio is considered superior to other funds in management efficiency since it provides higher excess return under the same risk level. Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indication it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabilitic fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely refund manager of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereasters.
Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indication it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabiliting fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely result of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereasters.
Alpha: The excess return of a fund relative to the return of a benchmark index. A fund with high alpha indication it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabilitic fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely reference. Beta: A measure of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereasters.	erms of it is able to beat the performance of its corresponding benchmark which is a result of the capabilitic fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely real securities. A measure of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereast fund manager in selecting appropriate securities for investment or making investment in a timely r Beta: A measure of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereasters.
Beta: A measure of the degree and direction of volatility of the rate of return of assets in the investment of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market whereast contents.
of the fund compared to the changes in the overall market. A beta of less than 1.0 implies that the return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market wherea return of the fund's assets is less volatile than that of the securities in the broader market wherea
\mathcal{L}_{A} , \mathcal{L}_{A}
of greater than 1.0 implies that the rate of return of the fund's assets is more volatile than that of the market.	oroader
Tracking Error: An indication of how efficient the actual performance of the fund can replicate its correst benchmark. A low tracking error implies that the fund has the efficiency to generate a return on inv	_ close to the benchmark return whereas the higher tracking error, the more divergence of the fund benchmark.

KWI Asset Management Company Limited

Tel: 02-844-0123 www.kwiam.com

43 Thai CC Tower, 26th Floor, South Sathorn Road, Yannawa, Sathorn, Bangkok 10120